The Legend of the Peter Freeman's Tomb

At the time of the land survey
group of men looking for Freeman's company survey line, came to a clearing on the north side of a small lake, and found that a

2

Indian and his wife had built a small home and was working the land

The survey men told the Indian
he would have to go, and when he refused he was shot and his bones buried to the ground

The oldest woman who said that knowing
what they had done
she would put a curse on the land that no one would ever live there in peace

Peter Freeman, came from united states
with the W.E.B. D. and settled in that part of ⁴the township clearing one lot after another. He came to the one that bordered the little lake and the remains of the little Indian house.

Mr. Freeman put little faith in the
and went ahead with his work.

35
after many years
of hard work, he became sick and died. His family had settled on the land cleared before and in spite of the fact
the Peter Freeman
farm was by far the best one, they chose to sell it

6 to a Mr. Clark who spent a good deal

of time and money
on the place.

Mr. Clark's family was troubled with sickness, and after his wife and two children died he sold the farm to the Flood brothers

2

who was also troubled with sickness and misfortune.

one spring day
while planting grain
a storm came up
and lightning killed
one of the brothers
The other brother was sure the place was cursed

He went to Syracusa
and from a man
who cleaned seed grain by removing
all the weed seed
from it.
bought all the weed
seed he had and planted it in every field. He then just left the farmer

9

had never then bought the place
he didn't believe in the sun, and when his wife became sick he said it was because the house
was too close to the lake. So he built a new one about three or four hundred feet away. His wife had died not long ago so he sold the land to Hub Guthrie who was very hard to make believe in any sense, but after twelve fine

years of hard work
his $ broke and trouble including the death of a little girl

The house being down.

A notice was put all the way, the

For some time the land was not worked until it was bought
by R. J. Freeman.

He added it to his pen and removed the building.

Dear Dr. Burleigh,

During our recent discussion concerning the "Darling" family groups, you had mentioned about your being unable to obtain a book concerning the brief history of the "Guthrie" clan. Unfortunately, I was unable ^{xo3} to obtain the above designated book so I did the next best by having my own book photostated. Please accept this copy as a donation and I hope you find the enclosed information quite interesting.

In closing, may I express my most heartfelt thanks for our most enlightening and informative talks for $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours. I regret that my fund of accumulated historical knowledge for our own community was at such a low ebb. Such results, however, could be expected from a "biological error" such as I. I also enjoyed your various spasms of joviality. I hope that I shall have the opportunity of having a talk with you in the future.

Sincerely,
Clifford Darling

THE GUTHRIES

It was in the year 1840 that our revered ancestors, Walter and Jessie Guthrie, took a fond farewell of Kith and Kin in their native Scotland and courageously sailed across the Atlantic Ocean to face a rugged pioneering life in Canada. One hundred years later, 1940 the last remaining child of this union, William Guthrie, decided to call the clan together to celebrate the centenary of the event. At that gathering the idea of meeting annually was decided upon. Thus, in 1965, we celebrate our 25th Reunion.

During the past 25 years considerable research has been done and some interesting facts and stories have come to light. Hence, the booklet has been compiled to commemorate this milestone and to honour the memory of our families' forebears. Sir Winston Churchill once said, "All wisdom is not new wisdom, and the past should be studied, if the future is to be successfully encountered.

Let us begin with a traditional story of how the surname "Guthrie" came into being. It is said that when King David Bruce and his Queen Joanna, were returning to Scotland after years of exile in France, they were chased off their course by the English fleet and driven ashore at Inverberie, where they landed beneath the frowning Bervie Brow. They sought food and shelter at a nearby fisher's cot and the wife, in a fit of extravagance, cried, "I'll gut two haddock." "Two?" shouted the husband, "Gut three". The King, overcome by such a welcome on so inhospitable a coast, exclaimed, "Gut three so shall thy name ever be."

We cannot prove the authenticity of the story, but we are certain that the Guthries lived in this vicinity on the east coast of Scotland. On the map of the county of Angus you may find the places where Walter and Jessie Guthrie were born.

OUR ANCESTORS

Walter Guthrie was born in Montrose, Scotland, April 12, 1812. He died December 30th, 1895 at "Glen Guthrie" near Perth Road village, Loughboro Township, Frontenac County, Ontario, Canada.

Jessie (Chaplin) Guthrie was born May 15, 1814 in Newbigging, near Dundee, Scotland. She died September 11, 1882 at "Glen Guthrie".

Walter Guthrie and Jessie Chaplin were married September 12, 1836 in Scotland. They came to Canada in 1840 with their three eldest children - David (age 3 yrs.) Elizabeth (age 2 yrs) and baby Margaret (born in Arbroath). They were thirteen weeks on their ocean voyage. It was a new sailing vessel, and one week after they had left Scotland they were halfway across the ocean. Six weeks later they were 100 miles nearer Scotland due to stormy weather. They had to catch water for drinking off the sails and share their provisions.

Walter Guthrie's brother William had been in Canada for some years, chiefly in the Niagara district. He had a cousin, Dr. Aberdeen who lived at Chippewa. This brother (called "Unky") met them at Montreal where they landed. They came to Kingston, where the brothers worked at their trade as carpenters. It was at this period that they became acquainted with the Smeatons, who had come from Scotland also. These families remained life long friends. For a time the Guthries lived about three miles out on the Montreal Road but the men still worked in Kingston.

There were only the two boys in the family. Their father, Walter Guthrie (also) was a merchant. Their mother, Mary died when they were quite young, but a kindly step-mother helped to care for them. The relatives in Scotland (from hearsay) were: an uncle who was a Colonel in the army; an uncle who was an adjutant; also an uncle who was a medical doctor whose practice covered a thirty mile radius and who travelled on horse back.

Jessie (Chaplin) Guthrie had two brothers Robert and William. William was a sailor and was lost at sea. She had four sisters, their names were: - Christine, Margaret, Agnes and Bessie. Bessie married a marmalade manufacturer in Dundee, whose name was Ramsay.

A man by the name of Quigan, owned property with water power on it at the Old Mill Hill on the Opinican Road. He had the Guthrie brothers come out and put up a saw-mill (which was an old upright saw). It was at that time that they decided to buy Government land in this locality. Walter owned about 400 acres in Loughboro Township and 200 acres in Storrington Township. His brother William owned about 400 acres in Storrington. "Unky" was a bachelor and his niece, Catherine (later Aunt Kitty Clough) who always lived with him, fell heir to his property. Eventually Walter divided his 600 acres between his two youngest sons, Walter and William (also).

The first house was a log shanty 12 feet square, on the same site as the present house stands. The Guthries built a saw-mill of their own. The water power was provided by the stream which flowed by Unky's house. All the lumber used for the building purposes was obtained by cutting down the trees and sawing them into lumber at the mill. Furniture such as cupboards, tables, chests of drawers, desks, chairs, etc., were hand made. Coffins were also made in their workshop when need arose in the neighbourhood.

Walter Guthrie had attended the Academy in Scotland. When a child he had taken dancing lessons. His granny used to carry him across the street to keep his shoes from getting muddy. He painted landscapes and portraits. He was interested in and had studied some astronomy. He was also interested in medicine and after coming to Canada, acted as a medical adviser in the rural community in which he lived. He even practised mid-wifery when doctors were not available. He was appointed a Justice of the Peace and gave legal advice and counsel. He was an esteemed elder of the Presbyterian Church and was a delegate from Sunbury to the first General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. A photograph of this assembly is still in the old "Glen Guthrie" home. He was an ardent temperance worker in Loughboro Township. It was actually on account of his brother's addiction to liquor, that they settled in the back woods, twenty miles north of Kingston.

GUTHRIE CASTLE

GUTHRIES OF SCOTLAND

Colonel Ivan D. Guthrie, the present Laird of Guthrie Castle, can trace his family back to when King David II granted the lands of Guthrie to an ancestor. Thus the Guthrie family has been established in the County of Angus for over 500 years. It was a Laird of Guthrie, who brought William Wallace back from France to lead the Scots against their English oppressors in the early 14th century. Another ancestor, Sir Alexander Guthrie, who had married Margaret Lyon of Glamis, was killed at the battle of Flodden in 1513, with his eldest son and three Lyon brothers-in-law of Glamis Castle. (Perhaps there is a connection between these Lyons and the Queen Mother, Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon). Mention has also been made of a Laird of Guthrie was murdered by his cousin, Gardlyne. His son was suspected of being an accomplice to the murder of Rizzio, chief-adviser and friend of Mary, Queen of Scots. From this we conclude that the Guthries are no exception to the rule - there are sinners as well as saints among us.

However, when Colonel I. D. Guthrie requested the privilege of having a family tartan, it was granted by the Lord Lyon of Scotland and duly registered in Edinburgh, on account of the part the Guthries had played in Scottish history.

The Guthrie tartan was designed by the firm of: - Alex Dalgety and Son, 59 East High Street, Farfar, Scotland, from which it may be obtained. The tartan is made in two different colourings. The one with the clear tones is known as - "Guthrie of Guthrie old colours" and is the original registered tartan. The second version is - "Guthrie faded old colours" and is in muted tones.

Footnote - The only established relationship between our family and those in Scotland is the fact that the County of Angus is their native soil. Perhaps you would be interested in making further research. Who can find the missing link?

Dr. THOMAS GUTHRIE

Dr. Thomas Guthrie (1803-1873) whose monument stands in Princes Street, Edinburgh, was noted preacher and philanthropist. He was born in Brechin, Forfarshire, Angus, and thought to be a descendant of Rev. James Guthrie, who was deposed for disowning the King's Authority in spiritual matters and was executed on June 1st, 1661. A book "The Martyrs - Henderson and Guthrie" was sent to us by Dr. Thomas Guthrie's grandson, Charles Guthrie, W.S. Another notable preacher was William Guthrie, who took part in the Covenanter's struggle for freedom in spiritual matters and was later appointed Chaplain to the Scots Army. He was present at the battle of Dunbar. Thus, it is not surprising that Dr. Thomas Guthrie, following in the tradition of his ancestors, became a protagonist in the cause of freedom. He left the established church in 1843 and began a campaign to secure funds and manses for those ministers of the Free Church who, at the disruption, had lost everything. Again in 1847 Dr. Thomas Guthrie became a "Beggar Man". This time it was for destitute children of the Edinburgh streets. Two schools (one for girls at Gilmerton and one for boys at Liberton) still bear testimony to his splendid campaign for the establishment of what was then called "Ragged Schools". They are now known as the "Dr. Guthrie Schools".

A photograph of Dr. Thomas Guthrie still hangs in the old Glen Guthrie home. He was supposed to have been a distant cousin of Walter Guthrie.

Mr. CHARLES GUTHRIE

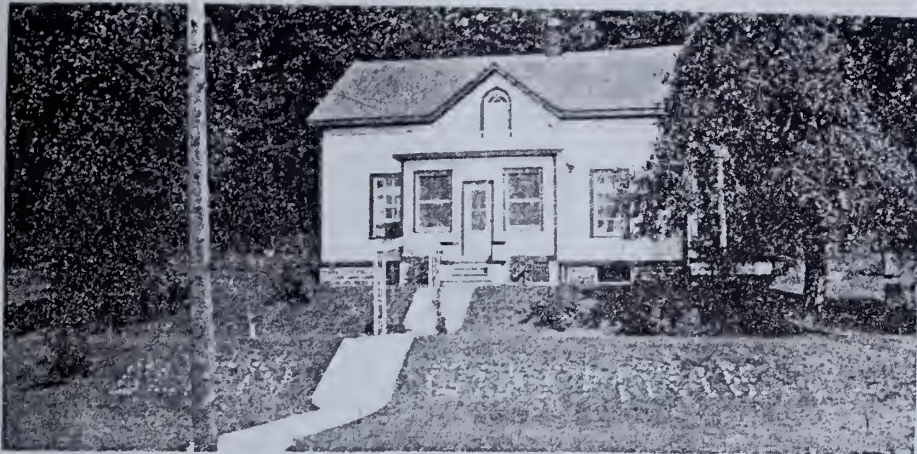

Mr. Charles Guthrie was for many years Chairman of the Directors of the Dr. Guthrie Schools and a grandson of the founder. He was a lawyer in Edinburgh and son of Lord Guthrie of the High judiciary court.

To this kindly gentleman we owe a debt of gratitude. For almost 10 years before his death in 1962, he contributed much of the historical background to our family in Canada, in whom he was greatly interested. Besides the Martyrs' book, already mentioned, he sent the Annual Reports of the Dr. Guthrie Schools for a number of years. Mention of the newly designed Guthrie tartan was made in the 1962 report, which was the last one received. In a letter written shortly afterward he expressed his delight saying, "It is a great event for us Guthries".

GUTHRIE SCHOOLS

GLEN GUTHRIE - Near Perth Road Village

In a Saint Andrew's Day lecture - "The Memory of a Nation" broadcast by the B.B.C. November 30, 1963 Sir James Fergusson, keeper of the Records of Scotland, concludes with the following sentiments: - "To have the good fortune to be descended from ancestors, who were honest, or brave or public spirited, and in their day won respect for those qualities, and perhaps reached eminence in service of their country, should be an inspiration and source of strength. If we have found comfort or guidance from their lives, let us not forget that we shall probably become ancestors ourselves and that we, too, ought to live lives worthy of being remembered by those who came after us." It is our duty and privilege to learn from the past, to live honourably in the present and throw the torch to succeeding generations.

This booklet is intended to serve, not only as a memento of our 25th Reunion, but also as a record (although incomplete) of the Guthries past and present. In the words of Tiny Tim, "God bless us everyone."

Lillian (Guthrie) Cronk

The greatest possession of any country is the family circles, with humility, with gratitude, with pride and with appreciation for what our forefathers did, the lives they lived and the examples they set for us. We record their names in this memorial record.

Our only fear is that some one has been missed, if we have, your committee begs your forgiveness.

We have prepared the lists, starting with the eldest members of the original family and working through to the youngest.

THE GUTHRIES

It was in the year 1840 that our revered ancestors, Walter and Jessie Guthrie, took a fond farewell of Kith and Kin in their native Scotland and courageously sailed across the Atlantic Ocean to face a rugged pioneering life in Canada. One hundred years later, 1940 the last remaining child of this union, William Guthrie, decided to call the clan together to celebrate the centenary of the event. At that gathering the idea of meeting annually was decided upon. Thus, in 1965, we celebrate our 25th Reunion.

During the past 25 years considerable research has been done and some interesting facts and stories have come to light. Hence, the booklet has been compiled to commemorate this milestone and to honour the memory of our families' forebears. Sir Winston Churchill once said, "All wisdom is not new wisdom, and the past should be studied, if the future is to be successfully encountered."

Let us begin with a traditional story of how the surname "Guthrie" came into being. It is said that when King David Bruce and his Queen Joanna, were returning to Scotland after years of exile in France, they were chased off their course by the English fleet and driven ashore at Inverberie, where they landed beneath the frowning Bervie Brow. They sought food and shelter at a nearby fisher's cot and the wife, in a fit of extravagance, cried, "I'll gut two haddock." "Two?" shouted the husband, "Gut three". The King, overcome by such a welcome on so inhospitable a coast, exclaimed, "Gut three so shall thy name ever be."

We cannot prove the authenticity of the story, but we are certain that the Guthries lived in this vicinity on the east coast of Scotland. On the map of the county of Angus you may find the places where Walter and Jessie Guthrie were born.

OUR ANCESTORS

Walter Guthrie was born in Montrose, Scotlond, April 12, 1812. He died Dec-ember 30th, 1895 ot "Glen Guthrie" near Perth Raod village, Laughbaro Tawnship, Fron-tenac County, Ontario, Canada.

Jessie (Chaplin) Guthrie was born May 15, 1814 in Newbigging, neor Dundee, Scatland. She died September 11, 1882 at "Glen Guthrfe".

Walter Guthrie and Jessie Choplin were married September 12, 1836 in Scot-land. They came to Conada in 1840 with their three eldest children - David (age 3 yrs.) Elizabeth (age 2 yrs) and boby Margaret (born in Arbraath). They were thirteen weeks on their ocean vayoge. It was a new sailing vessel, and one week after they had left Scotlond they were halfway ocrass the ocean. Six weeks later they were 100 miles nearer Scotland due ta stormy weather. They had ta catch water for drinking off the sails ond share their provisions.

Walter Guthrie's brother William had been in Canada for some years, chiefly in the Niagara district. He had a cousin, Dr. Aberdeen who lived at Chippewa. This brother (called "Unky") met them at Montreal where they landed. They came to Kingston, where the brothers worked at their trade as carpenters. It was at this period that they became acquainted with the Smeatons, who had come from Scotland also. These families remained life long friends. For a time the Guthries lived about three miles out on the Montreal Road but the men still worked in Kingston.

There were only the two boys in the family. Their father, Walter Guthrie (also) was a merchant. Their mother, Mary died when they were quite young, but a kindly step-mother helped to care for them. The relatives in Scotland (from hearsay) were: an uncle who was a Colonel in the army; an uncle who was an adjutant; also an uncle who was a medical doctor whose practice covered a thirty mile radius and who travelled on horse back.

Jessie (Chaplin) Guthrie had two brothers Robert and William. William was a sailor and was lost at sea. She had four sisters, their names were: - Christine, Margaret, Agnes and Bessie. Bessie married a marmalade manufacturer in Dundee, whose name was Ramsay.

A man by the name of Quigan, owned property with water power on it at the Old Mill Hill on the Opinicon Road. He had the Guthrie brothers come out and put up a saw-mill (which was an old upright saw). It was at that time that they decided to buy Government land in this locality. Walter owned about 400 acres in Loughboro Township and 200 acres in Storrington Township. His brother William owned about 400 acres in Storrington. "Unky" was a bachelor and his niece, Catherine (later Aunt Kitty Clough) who always lived with him, fell heir to his property. Eventually Walter divided his 600 acres between his two youngest sons, Walter and William (also).

The first house was a log shanty 12 feet square, on the same site as the present house stands. The Guthries built a saw-mill of their own. The water power was provided by the stream which flowed by Unky's house. All the lumber used for the building purposes was obtained by cutting down the trees and sawing them into lumber at the mill. Furniture such as cupboards, tables, chests of drawers, desks, chairs, etc., were hand made. Coffins were also made in their workshop when need arose in the neighbourhood.

Walter Guthrie had attended the Academy in Scotland. When a child he had taken dancing lessons. His granny used to carry him across the street to keep his shoes from getting muddy. He painted landscapes and portraits. He was interested in and had studied some astronomy. He was also interested in medicine and after coming to Canada, acted as a medical adviser in the rural community in which he lived. He even practised mid-wifery when doctors were not available. He was appointed a Justice of the Peace and gave legal advice and counsel. He was an esteemed elder of the Presbyterian Church and was a delegate from Sunbury to the first General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. A photograph of this assembly is still in the old "Glen Guthrie" home. He was an ardent temperance worker in Loughboro Township. It was actually on account of his brother's addiction to liquor, that they settled in the back woods, twenty miles north of Kingston.

GUTHRIE CASTLE

GUTHRIES OF SCOTLAND

Colonel Ivan D. Guthrie, the present Laird of Guthrie Castle, can trace his family back to when King David II granted the lands of Guthrie to an ancestor. Thus the Guthrie family has been established in the County of Angus for over 500 years. It was a Laird of Guthrie, who brought William Wallace back from France to lead the Scots against their English oppressors in the early 14th century. Another ancestor, Sir Alexander Guthrie, who had married Margaret Lyon of Glamis, was killed at the battle of Flodden in 1513, with his eldest son and three Lyon brothers-in-law of Glamis Castle. (Perhaps there is a connection between these Lyons and the Queen Mother, Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon). Mention has also been made of a Laird of Guthrie was murdered by his cousin, Gardyne. His son was suspected of being an accomplice to the murder of Rizzio, chief-adviser and friend of Mary, Queen of Scots. From this we conclude that the Guthries are no exception to the rule - there are sinners as well as saints among us.

However, when Colonel I. D. Guthrie requested the privilege of having a family tartan, it was granted by the Lord Lyon of Scotland and duly registered in Edinburgh, on account of the part the Guthries had played in Scottish history.

The Guthrie tartan was designed by the firm of: - Alex Dalgety and Son, 59 East High Street, Forfar, Scotland, from which it may be obtained. The tartan is made in two different colourings. The one with the clear tones is known as - "Guthrie of Guthrie old colours" and is the original registered tartan. The second version is - "Guthrie faded old colours" and is in muted tones.

Footnote - The only established relationship between our family and those in Scotland is the fact that the County of Angus is their native soil. Perhaps you would be interested in making further research. Who can find the missing link?

Dr. THOMAS GUTHRIE

Dr. Thomas Guthrie (1803-1873) whose monument stands in Princes Street, Edinburgh, was noted preacher and philanthropist. He was born in Brechin, Farfarshire, Angus, and thought to be a descendant of Rev. James Guthrie, was was deposed for disowning the King's Authority in spiritual matters and was executed on June 1st, 1661. A book "The Martyrs - Henderson and Guthrie" was sent to us by Dr. Thomas Guthrie's grandson, Charles Guthrie, W.S. Another notable preacher was William Guthrie, who took part in the Covenanter's struggle for freedom in spiritual matters and was later appointed Chaplain to the Scots Army. He was present at the battle of Dunbar. Thus, it is not surprising that Dr. Thomas Guthrie, following in the tradition of his ancestors, became a protagonist in the cause of freedom. He left the established church in 1843 and began a campaign to secure funds and manses for those ministers of the Free Church who, at the disruption, had lost everything. Again in 1847 Dr. Thomas Guthrie became a "Beggar Man". This time it was for destitute children of the Edinburgh streets. Two schools (one for girls at Gilmerton and one for boys at Liberton) still bear testimony to his splendid campaign for the establishment of what was then called "Ragged Schools". They are now known as the "Dr. Guthrie Schools".

A photograph of Dr. Thomas Guthrie still hangs in the old Glen Guthrie home. He was supposed to have been a distant cousin of Walter Guthrie.

Mr. CHARLES GUTHRIE

Mr. Charles Guthrie was for many years Chairman of the Directors of the Dr. Guthrie Schools and a grandson of the founder. He was a lawyer in Edinburgh and son of Lord Guthrie of the High judiciary court.

To this kindly gentleman we owe a debt of gratitude. For almost 10 years before his death in 1962, he contributed much of the historical background to our family in Canada, in whom he was greatly interested. Besides the Martyrs' book, already mentioned, he sent the Annual Reports of the Dr. Guthrie Schools for a number of years. Mention of the newly designed Guthrie tartan was made in the 1962 report, which was the last one received. In a letter written shortly afterward he expressed his delight saying, "It is a great event for us Guthries".

GUTHRIE SCHOOLS

GLEN GUTHRIE - Near Perth Road Village

In a Saint Andrew's Day lecture - "The Memory of a Nation" broadcast by the B.B.C. November 30, 1963 Sir James Fergusson, keeper of the Records of Scotland, concludes with the following sentiments: - "To have the good fortune to be descended from ancestors, who were honest, or brave or public spirited, and in their day won respect for those qualities, and perhaps reached eminence in service of their country, should be an inspiration and source of strength. If we have found comfort or guidance from their lives, let us not forget that we shall probably become ancestors ourselves and that we, too, ought to live lives worthy of being remembered by those who came after us." It is our duty and privilege to learn from the past, to live honourably in the present and throw the torch to succeeding generations.

This booklet is intended to serve, not only as a memento of our 25th Reunion, but also as a record (although incomplete) of the Guthries past and present. In the words of Tiny Tim, "God bless us everyone."

Lillian (Guthrie) Cronk

The greatest possession of any country is the family circles, with humility, with gratitude, with pride and with appreciation for what our forefathers did, the lives they lived and the examples they set for us. We record their names in this memorial record.

Our only fear is that some one has been missed, if we have, your committee begs your forgiveness.

We have prepared the lists, starting with the eldest members of the original family and working through to the youngest.

Guthrie Clan Hears Report On Scottish 'Homestead'

11 August 1966

BATTERSEA — How many family clans do you know in Canada which gather for a civic holiday picnic?

Well, that is what the Guthrie clan has been doing for over a quarter of a century in Canada. This year the members enjoyed a double-barrelled family feature as the Guthries joined with the Freeman family who acted as the hosts at the picnic-like grounds around Cedar Lake, near here. Nearly 100 people turned out to eat dinner and to compete in a program of sports.

Prizes were doled out to everyone of all ages who entered the races of various kinds and other sports. Special prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. B. Guthrie of Elgin, who won as the oldest couple present. The family from the farthest distance prize went to the M. Freeman family of Toronto.

The award for the largest family connection present at the picnic was given to Dr. N. V. Freeman, his children grandchildren and cousins. The youngest member of the clan present was a two-week-old daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. S. Randall of Kingston and she got a prize for her age, or the lack of it.

A short business meeting was held, led by Dr. Freeman as chairman. Mrs. Carl Shales of Perth Road gave the treasurer's report and Mrs. Mac Guthrie of Bath gave a report of the last meeting.

Two minutes of silence were observed for the members who passed away during the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Guthrie of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dodds of Kingston both enjoyed a trip to Scotland this year. Mr. Guthrie gave a description of the places they visited and subjects of special interest to the Guthries, such as the Guthrie castle. He also talked of Dolgetty store, exclusive

Mr. Guthrie showed pictures of Guthrie interest and gave an account of the welcome and hospitality given them by the Guthrie connection in Scotland.

Mrs. S. Cronk, a historian from Belleville, had written before the Dodd-Guthrie excursion telling their Scottish acquaintances of the proposed visit.

The Freeman hosts extended an invitation to the clan to gather again in centennial year for the annual picnic.

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian Breweries Ltd. had consolidated net earnings of $4,573,857 in the six months ended April 30, a five-per-cent increase compared with the similar period a year ago.

The company issued its annual report Wednesday covering only the six-month period, since it has changed its fiscal year-end to April 30 from Oct. 31.

The report says sales in the period declined to $175,097,278 from $181,155,648 in the similar 1965 period, but an increase in other income and reduced income taxes resulted in the improved net earnings.

The report says sales and earnings were lower in Canada, but volume was maintained in the United States and earnings there showed a sharp improvement.

It says the involvement of Dow Brewery Ltd. in the investigation of the deaths of several persons at Quebec City this spring seriously affected that subsidiary's sales.

"Both federal and provincial government officials have publicly stated that no grounds can be found for attributing the illnesses to the Dow products or to those of any other brewery.

Sleeping Dogs Lie

WA — Our folk-language has a number of old saws about sleeping dogs lie and casting the first stone and sowing the wind. Most of us trot them out when it's to our advantage — and otherwise ignore them.

These precepts came to mind as I reflected on the swing of voters away from the federal Liberal Party as reported in the most recent Gallup Poll. Why have a great many voters apparently become disenchanted since April with Prime Minister Pearson's government?

To try to answer this question, one has to know when the poll people carried out their opinion sampling, and the time relationship of these dates and certain events in the last few months that had great impact on many citizens. The date of sampling is in the month prior to release of the results, so the poll findings for May were determined by the results of the poll taken in April, and those just released represent samplings taken in March.

asked which party's insights' insight into human nature. you would vote for culture.

Then there's that amazingly high 40 per cent floating vote. My guess is that if the Conservatives had a new and politically attractive leader — a John Robarts or a Duff Roblin, say—the next poll would show them with more popular support than the government.

Unhappily, the Munsinger affair isn't over yet. We still have to suffer the royal commission report and the acrimony it undoubtedly will produce. This could destroy the improved image that Parliament achieved

The Legend of the Peter Freeman Farm

At the time of the ^{first} survey group of men, working for the Canada Company surveying firm, came to a clearing on the north side of a small lake and found that an Indian and his wife had built a small home and were working the land.

The survey men told the Indian that he would have to go and when he refused, he was shot, and his house was burned to the ground. The dead man's wife said that because of what they had done she would put a curse on the land; that no one would ever live there in peace.

Peter Freeman came from the United States with the U. S. L's and settling in that part of the Township, clearing one lot after another. He came to the one that included the little lake and the remains of the little Indian home.

Mr. Freeman put little faith in legends and went ahead with his work. After many years of hard work, he became sick and died. His family had settled on (what) he had cleared before and in spite of the fact the Peter Freeman farm was by far the best one, they chose to sell it to a

Mr. Clark who spent a good deal of time and money on the place.

Mr. Clark's family was troubled with sickness, and after his wife and two children died, he sold the farm to the Flood Brothers who were also troubled with sickness and misfortune. One spring day, while planting grain, a storm came up and lightning killed one of the brothers. The other brother was sure the place was cursed. He went to Sydenham and from a man who cleaned seed grain by removing all the weed seed from it. He then bought all the weed seed he had and planted it on every field. He then just left the farm.

Ira Orser then bought the place. He didn't believe in the curse, and when his wife became sick, he said it was because the house was too close to the lake. So he built a new one about three or four hundred feet away.

Orser's wife's health did not improve, so he sold the land to Herb. Guntine who was very hard to make believe in any curse, but after twenty-five years of hard work, heart break and trouble including the death of a little girl, the house being burned down.

A sickness that killed all the cattle, etc., our Guthries left the farm and moved to Kingston.

For some time the land was not worked until it was bought by Roy Freeman who added it to his farm and removed the building.
